Client Story

We praise God that before they walked into an abortion clinic, Patrick and Olivia walked into A Woman's Choice! They walked in thinking abortion was their option, but after hearing the truth of abortion, and all the implications it brings to both mother and father, they were interested to hear about their other options. They left from planning to abort, to uncertain of their plan.

The young couple returned for a second ultrasound and were surprised to see how much their baby had grown in such a short amount of time. Smiling, they took pictures of their baby on the ultrasound. A change was in the air...a glimmer of hope for life.

Thanks to the support they both received from their families and the second family they found at A Woman's Choice, Patrick and Olivia made a decision for life and a decision to parent their baby. They are signed up for the Life Steps educational program, where both Patrick and Olivia will receive educational, emotional, material, and spiritual care. *names changed for privacy
